NOT ALL BANDS ARE CREATED EQUALLY!

Although technology and innovation has changed the world during the last 80 years, what hasn't changed is the need to put two components together. BAND-IT stainless steel band clamps and fastening products are now being used in more high volume production capacity applications around the world than ever thought possible. When performance is critical, BAND-IT's experience and expertise helps companies solve the challenges of today and imagine the possibilities of the future.
